

to think.

- Cicero

than he finds.

- Francis Bacon

than well said.

- Benjamin Franklin

than the sword.

- Edward Bulwer-Lytton

than in being loved.

- Thomas Fuller

before we know
what it is.

- George Herbert

Who cannot control
himself.

- Pythagoras

Everyone
becomes a poet.

- Plato

Watching
the masters at work.

- Michael Jackson

a portrait of himself.

- Anonymous

be worthy
to be loved.

- Ovid

Can never despair.

- George Bernard Shaw

blind.

- William Shakespeare

Nature's
second sun.

- George Chapman

but the fruit is sweet.

- Aristotle

dwelling
in two bodies.

- Aristotle

easier made
than kept.

- Samuel Butler

but depth of life.

- Ralph Waldo Emerson

by giving.

- Anne Frank

the best policy.

- George Washington

if you're looking down.

- Charlie Chaplin

Without hardship.

- Sophocles

responsibility.

- Winston Churchill

lies opportunity.

- Albert Einstein

power.

- Francis Bacon

and
99% perspiration.

- Thomas Edison

Others happy too.

- Anne Frank

before you have to.

- Jack Welch

Until it's done.

- Nelson Mandela

With a smile.

- Mother Teresa

Worth
two tomorrow.

- Benjamin Franklin

you can do it.

- Walt Disney

than wrong action.

- Henry Ford

a form of action.

- Auguste Rodin

a new day.

- Ernest Hemingway

therefore
people liked him.

- Mark Twain

to discover
the fountain of youth.

- Pearl S Buck

than fiction.

- George Gordon Byron

being in our brains.

- Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart

you can see the stars.

- Ralph Waldo Emerson

Without doing.

- Charlie Chaplin

to create the future.

- Victor Hugo

never finished
tomorrow.

- J. W. V. Goethe

goes backward.

- J. W. V. Goethe

but Warm hearts.

- Alfred Marshall

therefore I am.

- René Descartes

like a body
without a soul.

- Cicero

to serve humanity.

- Lev Tolstoy